Twenty-three members have been chosen by the Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma, the national Catholic Honor Society.

Election to Delta Epsilon Sigma is generally limited to members of the Senior class but, each chapter is permitted to elect not more than two Juniors, two Alumni and two faculty members each year.

The requirements for student election to this society are rigid, demanding: 1) an academic average of not less than honor grades; 2) an indication of continuing progress beyond college, and 3) exemplification of the ideals of the Catholic gentelman.

Delta Epsilon Sigma was born in 1939 during a group discussion of the National Catholic Education Committees. The society was founded in order that the Catholic Colleges of the United States might offer to their outstanding students membership in an honorary society similar to Phi Beta Kappa.

The Alpha Nu Chapter of Delta Epsilon Sigma was established at St. Michael's in 1941 by the late Dr. Jeremiah D. Durick, Very Rev. Jeremiah T. Purtill and Dr. Francis S. Quinlan.

Since the society's inception in 1939, 85 chapters have been founded at Catholic Colleges across the country and over 8000 members have been elected to them.

Junior Class To Sponsor Magazine Drive Nov. 12-19

As announced in last week's MICHAELMAN, the Juniors have a novel plan for raising the necessary funds for Junior Weekend. At the Junior class meeting, President Mike Smith, announced the details for a magazine drive.

The drive will be held the week of November 12th - 19th. This drive will take place primarily in the Burlington area.

The drive will offer, through a special arrangement with Educational Readers Service Incorporated, an opportunity to subscribe to many popular magazines at the lowest possible prices.

Some of the magazines offered are, Look, Sport, Field and Stream, Life, and Readers Digest, to mention just a few. In all there are over 150 different magazines that customers can choose from.

Dr. Giroux, Junior class moderator, suggested the magazine drive as a fund raising scheme. He has previously handled such a drive and in all cases they have proven a great success. Dr. Giroux, in addressing the students at the class meeting, layed down the conditions for success when he said, "We need the cooperation of everyone in the junior class, in order to make this project a success."

Don Cipriano, chairman of the magazine drive, detailed the operation of the drive. The Juniors will be divided into ten teams, of approximately 25 men each. Each team will have a captain who will process the orders and collect money from the sales. The teams will be assigned a specified area to be covered in a house to house canvass. Each team member will be asked to obtain six subscriptions.

There are three types, or classifications, or subscriptions that will be offered by Educational Readers Service Incorporated - new subscriptions, renewal subscriptions and gift subscriptions. The company will also match any special offer. In other words, if any magazine on the list is offering a special reduced rate, you will be able to obtain this offer through Educational Readers Service Incorporated. The various categories offered should make sales relatively easy.

As an added incentive, some very fine prizes will be awarded to the top three salesmen. Also, all who meet their quota will be eligible for a special prize. Some mention of a very special bonus prize was made at the Junior class meeting, but no further details are available at this time.

Navy Team On Campus Monday

The Navy Officer Programs Information Team will be on campus, Monday, October 15, to discuss opportunities available to young men in the U.S. Navy.

On campus to discuss the various programs will be; Lt Fidelibus, a naval aviator, and Lt.Jg. Coneys, a line officer. The Information Team will be available to the student body from 10:00 A.M. until 4:00 P.M. in Alliot Hall.

Military Weekend To Feature Johnny Nash, Humorist Astor

by George R. Quinn

Cue Magazine says, "He's better than any other Johnny you can name (Mathis, Cash, Ray, etc.). His voice has power and range."

The New York Journal American says, "An absolute standout . . . He's dynamic and exciting."

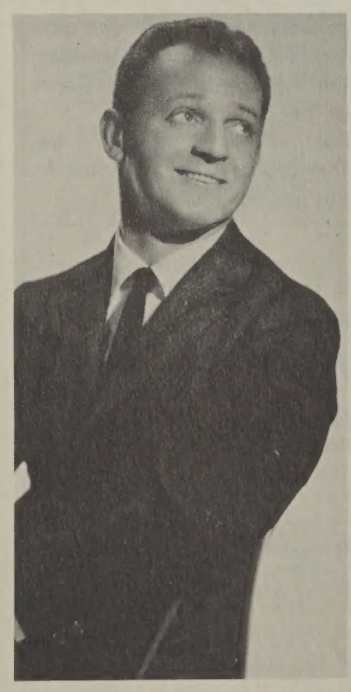
Variety has praised him, and whats more he'll be'll be on that Austin Hall Stage Friday night, November 9th, to thrill the 1962 Military Weekend audience beyond their wildest expectations! His name, - Johnny Nash.

Under contract to ABC Paramount, with three best-selling albums to his credit, Johnny is famous for his versitility in song, receiving particular hurrahs for his folk and jazz arrangements.

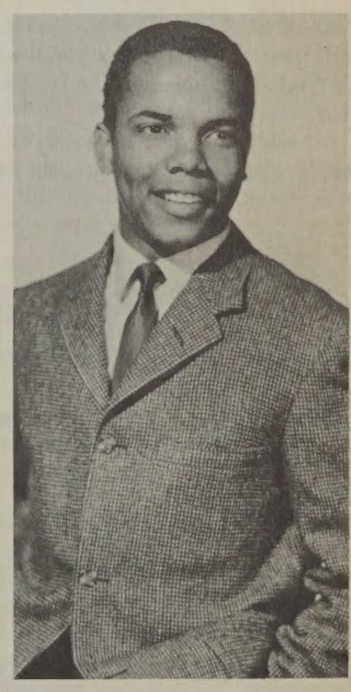
No stranger to Television, and an up and coming man in Hollywood, Johnny's career has pyramided from discovery by Arthur Godfrey to starring roles in movieland flicks "Take A Giant Step" and "Key Witness".

Providing the female touch for the Friday night spectacular will be songstress Jackie Billman, with Frankie Scott and his Scotmen handling instrumental backing for both singers, in addition to his own jazz show and dance music.

In a radical departure form the standard "music only" fare usually presented at St. Michael's, Friday night will also see comedian Dave Astor, termed by the New York Journal American one of the top comedy finds of the current decade."



Dave Astor



Johnny Nash

Coming to us from San Francisco's "Hungry i" and the famed "Blue Angel" in New York, Astor's humor has provoked the New York World-Telegram to print "We have rarely heard so many fresh, funny lines".

On the basis of the above-listed bill of fare, you can see why the Friday night segment of Military Weekend, 1962, must be termed a "spectacular" over the traditional title, "jazz concert".

It will be one of the most extensive one-night stage shows ever to hit the campus, and, by the way, its only the beginning... See next week's MICHAELMAN concerning news of the exciting Saturday afternoon and evening attractions.

The annual registrar's report has just been released. According to Mr. McDonald's statistics this year marks the second largest total enrollment ever registered at St. Michael's. The largest was in 1949 following World War II when a large number of veterans came to the college for their education.

Total enrollment that year was 1137 compared with this year's 1108 including part-time and foreign students and the nurses.

Between 1947 and the current 1962, St. Michael's College has experienced a constant physical growth. The quadrangle of dormitories was completed last year and the last two dorms were preceded by Alliot Hall.

Construction is still going on. The new priests' residence has already begun. A chapel and a library are the next two projects.

But we can be satisfied that the growth has not been purely a physical one. The quality of the incoming students has been raised. As more applications have been received, the admissions committee has been able to choose the cream of the crop.

The Very Rev. Gerald E. Dupont, St. Michael's president, in his talk to us at the Student Forum meeting this week announced that tuition will have to be increased gradually during the next few years to meet the high costs of operating the college.

A financial report of the College's expenses will be made available.

Fr. Dupont also said that another fund-collecting campaign will be initiated soon. He exhorted the student body to cooperate with the plans, especially by giving support to the College through good impressions.

Unfortunately, a few isolated incidents by certain individuals have caused some embarrassment to College administration and the rest of the student body. Certainly, these incidents are not representative of the true feeling of Michaelmen.

The students must give their best to see that wrong impressions are changed soon for the benefit of the college and ourselves.

With the increase in enrollment and the improvement in quality, it is our obligation to act towards this end, and support the administration in our mutual aims.

We want to express our most sincere congratulations to the 17 seniors, 2 juniors and four other members who have been nominated to Delta Epsilon Sigma, the National Catholic Honor Society.

DES is a society whose purpose is to recognize and encourage a high level of scholarship among graduates of Catholic Colleges.

This honor should serve as an added stimulation to freshmen to apply themselves in their academic studies if they would like to be the recipients of this honor in their senior year. We can show our respect by attending the DES lecture Tuesday night.

As Catholic gentlemen in a Catholic institution who are participating in a retreat this weekend, let us not forget that the Catholic Church began its Second Vatican Council in Rome Thursday.

As members of the Mystical Body of Christ who will be deeply affected by the outcome of the Council - so much needed in these troubled times - let's pray for its success.

Fr. Dupont Addresses Forum

I appreciate the invitation of Pat Bergin to address the Student Forum and indirectly the whole student body. I am sorry I was not available for the Mass of the Holy Spirit at the beginning of the year.

The year seems to have gotten off to a good start, in spite of the fact that four students already have been suspended. Perhaps a little reflection in their idleness will convince them that we expect all of our students to behave as responsible human beings.

I was very pleased to read in the last issue of The MICHAELMAN that the seniors have been accorded certain privileges. As the editorial so well puts it: "What this really means is that seniors face more responsibilities now." I feel quite certain that all seniors will accept these greater responsibilities and will not take a childish attitude towards the new privileges they enjoy.

The awareness of responsibility, of a personal accountive for one's actions, is one of the most important qualities St. Michael's College attempts to impart to its students. We really mean what we say in the Catalogue (p. 9): "The purpose of disciplinary regulations is to provide the environment necessary to carry out the educational aims of the College. It is expected that a student will understand this and will exercise self-discipline, thereby training himself for the competent handling of problems in later life.

"The emphasis here is on the self-discipline necessary to permit any man to live in a community. We realize, of course, that young people will forget this now and then. But we hope that in four years the hapit of self-discipline will be engendered. If there is no sign of this, then we must ask individuals to leave.

You students are part of the community which is the college. You are an important part of this community, because without you there would be no reason for it to exist. You should therefore feel that this is your college - that the buildings you live in are to be treated as though they belonged to you, that the desks in your classrooms are to be handled as you would handle a piece of furniture in your own home, that the lawns are to be preserved as you would preserve lawns near your own home. We provide these things for your comfort and we provide certain services - like the infirmary, the book store, the snack bar, the post-office, etc., - and none of these should be abused, because if they are abused they become less serviceable for the whole community.

It is because I consider you as partners in the experiences of this college, that I would like this evening to give you some idea of our financial standing. There are a number of fables or misunderstandings that I should like, first of all, to clear up.

1) Yesterday I received a telephone call from the mother of a freshman. I was a little astounded to hear her say something about the money given to the College by the government for permitting the ROTC to exist on the campus. I wonder how many have this impression. They probably will be as surprised as she was to know that the College receives no money at all from the ROTC, - that in fact it costs the College additional money every year to maintain a unit on the campus. This money we are glad to spend, because we think all of you students ought to have the information provided in the ROTC courses and the training offered, in order to be better acquainted with the world in which we live.

2) Another false impression retained by many students is that the College makes money from the snack-bar and the Book store. According to the report of an accredited accounting company, which went over our books this year as they do every year, the excess of income over expenditures in the Bookstore for the year which ended in June 30, 1962, was $3,423.52. At least in the Bookstore we made a slight profit.

SNACK BAR LOSS

In the snack-bar, on the contrary, we experienced a loss of $6,198.12. This, I am sure, will come as a surprise to many of you, but it is a constant problem to keep income even with expenses in the snack bar.

I could go through every operation of the College and show you that the surpluses are small and that we manage to have a total surplus at the end of the year from all operations that is not very large.

Last year, for example, we had an income of about $2,116,694 and expenditures of $2,048,304. This left a surplus of $68,390. And the only reason for this surplus is that we do not retain enough money from current operations for the replacement and renewal of College buildings and furniture. In other words the College, like many other Colleges, does not have a very high depreciation reserve. This is unlike any other business and accounts for the surplus.

Should we follow business practices that are acknowledged every where and retain a certain amount for depreciation, we should be in the red every year by about $150,000.

In that case, you will ask, how does the College manage to build new buildings and to repair old ones? Where does the cash come from?

The greatest part of the cash for the building of the new structures you find on the campus came from borrowing. To build Cheray Science Hall, Ryan Hall and Alumni Hall we borrowed about $1,500,000 from the National Life Insurance Company. We have paid back all but about $600,000 on that debt. To build Lyons Hall, Alliot Hall and Joyce Hall, we borrowed $2,230,000 from the Federal Government. These borrowings have been the major source of ready cash over the past few years.

FATHERS' SALARIES

There are other sources and these other sources have allowed us to supplement the loans and to repair the old buildings. There is, first of all, the unused portion of the salaries of the Fathers of St. Edmund, which comes to about $50,000 a year. There is the yearly contribution of the alumni association which varies between $25,000 and $40,000. There are contributions from our honorary degree holders, parents of students, business and other friends of the College, which amount to about $60,000 a year.

There is a yearly check from the New England Colleges Fund which was $16,000 last year. It's out of these funds that we have been able to get the money to repair old buildings. And we're very grateful to all who have contributed in any way to these funds.

The fees that you pay to the College barely meet our obligations. We keep them high enough for this, but no higher than we have to. The tuition must pay for the salaries of our teachers and for many administrative expenses. As salaries rise, so will tuition, but not excessively. In the next ten years we shall have to increase tuition about $100 every two years and possibly we shall have to increase minor fees by a few dollars.

I don't think we shall have to raise room fees, but board fees will be raised slightly in a couple of years. In other words, we try to keep our charges as low as possible and as low as consistent with good management. We're still living in a period of inflation and, as prices rise, so must our fees, to keep up.

TAX RELIEF?

It is my hope that some day the government will grant easement in taxes to the parents who pay fees to private Colleges.

At St. Michael's we have done quite well, because everyone on the faculty and in the administration has made great sacrifices. These should be appreciated by you students, because they are made for you.

CHAPEL AND LIBRARY

Now, we are faced by the problem of raising enough money to start building a new chapel and a new library. We cannot borrow for these buildings, because we don't know where we would get the money to repay a loan. So, we are working on organizing a drive to raise these funds, if possible, during the next two years.

The students can help us by always giving a good impression of the College to all outsiders and by being careful not to embroil the College in something like the Winooski Fire Department quarrel of last year. Think before you act, because your actions may reflect on our efforts in your behalf.

STUDENTS CAN HELP

I think also, it would give a good impression to outside prospects, if they would see voluntary contributions from our students towards this drive. One possibility that has been suggested is that all students be given envelopes for a Sunday collection in church, the proceeds of which would go toward the chapel. There have been other suggestions, but I have refrained from acting upon any of them until I discussed the problem with you. Any suggestions by the Student Forum would be appreciated.

I cannot end this talk without wishing all of you, all the students, the greatest success in your studies. Try to remember that this is the principal reason for your being here and that many people are making sacrifices to offer you this opportunity.

Behave like gentlemen in everything you do, remembering always that you bear the standard, not only of yourself and your family, but of your College. And that standard should always be borne with pride.

Any Student interested in working for The MICHAELMAN, please contact Paul Simmons, Lyons 416, any evening after 8, or come to MICHAELMAN Office, Alliot 107, Thursday afternoon. Positions available for News and Sports reporting, Make-up work and Headline Design.

Varsity, Novice Debaters Launch Season Oct. 19

The Newman Debate Society is making feverish preparation for its first weekend of intercollegiate tournaments. On October 19, the society will be sending teams to the Middlebury Varsity and Dartmouth Novice meets.

This year's topic is "Resolved: That the non-Communist Nations of the World Should Form an Economic Community."

The nucleus of the current varsity comprises veterans of the stiff opposition faced in previous years in such nationally known forensic competions as MIT, Brown, Amherst, Harvard and Boston University. Novice ranks have been swelled by several experienced high school speakers.

Mr. Henry Fortier, debate coach for the past two years, is succeeded by Prof. Jack Stewart who, in 1959 guided a crack St. Michael's team to high honors in the Regional finals. The society also welcomes to its staff Dr. Frank Morriss, Assistant Editor of the Vermont Catholic Tribune and an experienced debator in his own right. Dr. Morriss will attend the away tournaments and will assist Prof. Stewart during the weekly intra-club sessions.

The appointed officers for the 1962-63 term are Tom Roney, President; Joe L'Herault, Vice-president; and Tom Johnson, Secretary. All of the officers are Dean's List students and, in addition to their other activities present a weekly review of modern music and literature on WSSE which has received high acclaim.

The varsity team representing St. Michael's at the Middlebury Tournament is: Affirmative, Tom Roney and Joe L'Herault; Negative, Tom Johnson and Joe McLaughlin.

Going to the Dartmouth Novice meet will be: Afirmative, Vincent Johnson and Jerry Fox; Negative, Joe Miller and Tony Bothwell.

Each club member will be involved in several intercollegiate debates during the course of the year, although beginning in February only two-man teams will be allowed to compete.

The current resolve focuses on international affairs, both economic and political. The sweeping upsurge of the six-nation European Economic Community and the flurry of interest among non-members have excited speculation as to whether the free world can successfully unite in a solid economic partnership to halt the spread of Communism.

The prospect of rapid development of backward areas and the eventual emergence of a United States of the World lends a touch of glamour to the long term implication of the topic.

These factors lead the Debate Society to look for a highly successful season.

All interested students are cordially invited to participate as there are still openings on both the Varsity and Novice levels.

Meetings are held Thursday afternoon at 3 PM in Alliot 104.

Literary Magazine Sets Oct. 25 Entry Deadline

From the staff of The Quest this week came the announcement that material is now being accepted for the Fall issue of the Literary Magazine.

Any literary work, be it in the form of essays, short stories, one act plays, literary criticisms, satires, or book, art and music reviews, may be submitted to James DeBiasio, Joyce Hall 157.

Faculty contributions, as in the past, will be limited to poetry.

In order to further enhance the quality of the magazine, an editorial staff composed of students and faculty, will review all pieces.

While the definite date of publication is still pending, it was estimated that the first 1962-1963 edition would appear in mid-November.

DeBiasio strongly recommends that all prospective authors circle October 25, 1962 on their calendar. This date has been set as the deadline for accepting material for the first edition.

The staff of The Quest, feeling that there is a great deal of potential talent on campus, hopes to present two enlarged editions this year.

James DeBiasio

However, they also realize that potential talent never filled a magazine, and point out that this is your opportunity to test your creative ability in a publication designed for you.

A special film entitled "The Peace Corps in Tanganyika" will be shown as an added featurette, along with the campus movie of the week, "Operation Petticoat", Friday at 5:30 and Sunday at 5:30 and 8:00 at the Playhouse.

FROM THE LILLY PAD

by Bob Lilly

Mr. Ted Donohoe and his staff must be very pleased to see that their food is so pupular. There are two signs that demostrate this; first of all, the long lines and secondly the friendly jostling of students by their friends and classmates and the quickened paces to the nearest line when the doors are first opened. From the grunts of approval and the short tempers, these gentlemen display real eagerness to partake of the generous offerings served to them.

Who hasn't heard of the story of the cow in Ryan Hall? It seems that about 10 years ago some of the more adventurous students at St. Michael's decided to "borrow" a cow from the school farm, thus having fresh milk whenever they wanted it.

Somehow, though, after the deed had been done and Bossy was residing comfortably on the 4th floor, a nasty proctor decided that she must go.

But Bossy didn't want to!

It took Mr. Roy, the farmer, and a few hands, to finally lead the uncontented cow down the stairs and out of the building. Thus with tearful brown eyes and an empty udder, Bossy returned to her pasture, never again to visit her long-gone friends across the road.

* * * * * * * *

Then there's the story of the automobile raffle in front of Alumni Hall not so long ago. I'll save this for a future issue.

Rumor has it that Mr. Gianelli has a new necktie! For the benefit of Freshmen, Mr. Gianelli is a member of the Business and Philosophy Departments and the author of the Logic book used in Philosophy 102. It seems that for as long as I can remember, Mr. Gianelli, has worn a red tie -- but the other day he was seen in a new one and from hearsay he has forsaken the much revered relic completely.

An old ad for St. Michael's College, showing a picture of "Old Hall," stated the cost of tuition and board at $300. This was dated 1926. Also noted in the picture was the porch running along the eastern side of the building, another sign of changing times.

* * * * * * * *

Interesting sidelight in statistics: in 1904 there were 34 students enrolled at St. Michael's College. The high year was just following World War II in 1948 when there were 1,145 enrolled as full time, four year men.

HAPPINESS CAN'T BUY MONEY

Can education bring happiness?

This is a question that in recent years has caused much lively debate and several hundred stabbings among American college professors. Some contend that if a student's intellect is sufficiently aroused, happiness will automatically follow. Others say that to concentrate on the intellect and ignore the rest of the personality can only lead to misery.

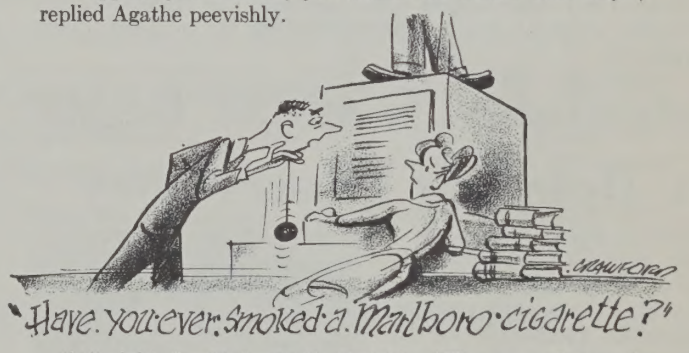
I myself favor the second view, and I offer in evidence the well-known case of Agathe Fusco.

Agathe, a forestry major, never got anything less than a straight "A", was awarded her B.T. (Bachelor of Trees) in only two years, her M.S.B. (Master of Sap and Bark) in only three, and her D.B.C. (Doctor of Blight and Cutworms) in only four.

Academic glory was hers. Her intellect was the envy of every intellect fan on campus. But was she happy? The answer, alas, was no. Agathe—she knew not why—was miserable, so miserable, in fact, that one day while walking across campus, she was suddenly so overcome with melancholy that she flang herself, weeping, upon the statue of the Founder.

By and by a liberal arts major named R. Twinkle Plenty came by with his yoyo. He noted Agathe's condition. "How come you're so unhappy, hey?" said R. Twinkle.

"Suppose you tell me, you dumb old liberal arts major," replied Agathe peevishly.



"All right, I will," said R. Twinkle. "You are unhappy for two reasons. First, because you have been so busy stuffing your intellect that you have gone and starved your psyche. I've got nothing against learning, mind you, but a person oughtn't to neglect the pleasant, gentle amenities of life—the fun things. Have you, for instance, ever been to a dance?"

Agathe shook her head.

"Have you ever watched a sunset? Written a poem? Smoked a Marlboro Cigarette?"

Agathe shook her head.

Well, we'll fix that right now!" said R. Twinkle and gave her a Marlboro and struck a match.

She puffed, and then for the first time in twelve or fifteen years, she smiled. "Wow!" she cried. "Marlboros are a fun thing! What flavor! What filter! What pack or box! What a lot to like! From now on I will smoke Marlboros, and never have another unhappy day!"

"Hold!" said R. Twinkle. "Marlboros alone will not solve your problem—only half of it. Remember I said there were two things making you unhappy?"

"Oh, yeah," said Agathe. "What's the other one?"

"How long have you had that bear trap on your foot?" said R. Twinkle.

"I stepped on it during a field trip in my freshman year," said Agathe. "I keep meaning to have it taken off."

"Allow me," said R. Twinkle and removed it.

"Land sakes, what a relief!" said Agathe, now totally happy, and took R. Twinkle's hand and led him to a Marlboro vendor's and then to a justice of the peace.

Today Agathe is a perfectly fulfilled woman, both intellectwise and personalitywise. She lives in a darling split-level house with R. Twinkle and their 17 children, and she still keeps busy in the forestry game. Only last month, in fact, she became Consultant on Sawdust to the American Butchers Guild, she was named an Honorary Sequoia by the park commissioner of Las Vegas, and she published a best-selling book called I was a Slippery Elm for the FBI.

The makers of Marlboro are pleased that Agathe is finally out of the woods—and so will you be if your goal is smoking pleasure. Just try a Marlboro.

STUDENT FORUM

by Bill Eagan

The major feature of this week's meeting of the Student Forum was an address by the Very Reverend Gerald E. Dupont, S.S.E., the President of St. Michael's College. Fr. Dupont spoke on student responsibility and the finances of the college.

One of the most important qualities that the college attempts to impart, he said, is that of an awareness of responsibility. If this attempt is successful then the student body should realize that the school exists for them. All of the activities of the school are carried on for them.

BUSINESS MEETING

Following announcements and committee reports, Bob Magee moved that cushions be placed on the wooden chairs in the television room in Joyce Hall. The motion was referred to the Student Welfare Committee and the Finance Committee.

John Daly introduced a motion to place the coordination of meetings under a committee of the Student Forum. This would ease the work of the Dean of Men's secretary and would help to prevent conflicting meetings.

A motion to have the possibilities of having the parking lot chains lowered until the construction was finished looked into, was introduced by Bill Batewell. The motion was referred to committee, as was a motion by Jim Daughton to have the parking ban in the Science Hall area lifted after 6 P.M.

The Junior Class President, Mike Smith, moved that the Junior Class be given permission to conduct a magazine selling campaign in the Greater Burlington area. The reasons for this were to raise money toward Junior Weekend and to present a picture of the industriousness of the students to the populace of the area. In the same money making vein, the Knights of Columbus asked permission to hold a dance on November 17. The proceeds would go toward a scholarship fund. Both of these motions were approved by the Forum.

Bill O'Connell moved that the Forum approved an outing to Mount Mansfield which would be open to the general student body. This would give the students a chance to benefit from the natural environment of the area. The only charge would cover transportation. This motion was approved.

MISCELLANEOUS

The Student Welfare Committee was asked to look into the possibility of having the Brunch on Sunday mornings restored. There seems to be a great deal of student desire that this be accomplished.

The Election Committee announced that the Sophomore Class special election had been postponed for one week, due to a lack of qualified candidates. The elections will be held in Alumni basement on October 17 from 10 A.M. to 4 P.M.

The Modern Language Club and the Sociology Club were raised to Class A and their budgets were approved. The Student Welfare Committee reported that it was looking into the problem of ride coordination.

Knights Pilgrimage To St. Anne's

On October 7, members of the Fr. John Verret Council of the Knights of Columbus visited St. Anne's Shrine at Isle La Motte.

Art Kohler, Grand Knight, and Louis Rosato, Catholic Activity Chairman, planned the trip to the Shrine which is directed by the Edmundite Fathers. The pilgrimage was offered for the success of the Ecumenical Council.

The college Knights attended morning Mass and after lunch they participated in special prayers for the Council's success.

Other Knight activities being planned include a Halloween Party at the Essex Junction Council, Oct. 20. All Knights must bring a date.

First Friday adoration has also been added to their duties.

A dance has been scheduled for Nov. 17. The Knights will take the children of the orphanage trick or treating on Halloween.

Astronomy Seminar Begun At Holcomb Observatory

Padriac K. Ryan

Mr. Arthur L. Norberg of the physics department has embarked upon a new project. He has realized the potential of the St. Michael's Holcomb Observatory as a teaching device.

The project in astronomy will take a seminar form and include a dozen or so students who show interest and ability to pursue the project.

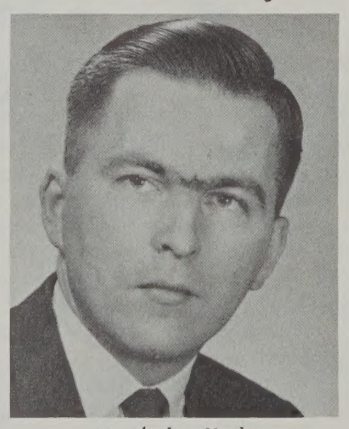
Mr. Norberg consistently uses "project" instead of "course" because this is a private, unaccredited undertaking. The goals will be a more fruitful understanding of celestial bodies that are varying distances from our planet and effects of various bodies on our sciences and philosophy.

An investigation of the theories of the cosmos, their implications for man and even means of dating the age of the universe can be pursued. Now the universe comes under the close scrutiny of Michaelmen.

The Students will be chosen on their degree of interest, concentration and commitments. Mr. Norberg stresses that the commitments will be as strong as those in a regular course.

It will be in seminar form so as to bring out the points of interest favored by individual students. Each student will give a talk on a related topic every few months.

Mr. Norberg is "anxious" to begin the course, readily admitting that he has much to learn himself. He has indicated that many interested "star-gazers" have already approached him. If the support is great maybe next year it can be taken up on a larger scale.



Mr. Arthur Norberg

NAMED FOR BUILDER

The Holcomb Observatory itself was personally constructed and developed by a former head of our Physics Department, Professor James Holcomb.

He was ably assisted by Fr. Arthur Rivard S.S.E. who is quite knowledgeable in the field of telescopes. Professor Holcomb donated the observatory in 1935 where it now sits across College Parkway.

The telescope has been rarely used in recent years except for Mr. Norberg, a few Edmundite Brothers and engineers from General Electric who come and use it every so often.

A Newtonian telescope containing an automatic device for tracing heavenly bodies (not angels) across the sky, it has a 12 1/2 inch mirror.

"This observatory", says Mr. Norberg, "will open to us the tremendous and fascinating field of astronomy".

This year's Delta Epsilon Sigma lecture at St. Michael's College will be given by Dr. Francis L. Broderick, instructor in History at Phillips Exeter Academy (Exter, N.H.)

Dr. Broderick will speak on "The Capacity to Grow" Tuesday, Oct. 16 at 8 in the St. Michael's Playhouse. The lecture is free and public.

A former member of the Summer Session faculty at St. Michael's, Dr. Broderick is the author of "W.E.B. Dubois, Negro Leader In a Time of Crisis". His "Right Reverend New Dealer", a biography of the late Msgr. John A. Ryan, pioneer Catholic social thinker, will be published by Macmillan in February, 1963.

A short biography of James Cardinal Gibbons, written with Msgr. John Tracy Ellis, is scheduled next September.

Dr. Broderick received his early education at Phillips Andover Academy and was a 1943 graduate, magna cum laude, from Princeton where he was chairman of "The Daily Princetonian".

One of the first three Woodrow Wilson Fellows in 1945-46, Dr. Broderick earned his M.A. in History at Harvard in 1947 and his Ph.D. in American Civilization at Harvard in 1955. He has also taught at the Catholic University of America.

Former Ole Miss Student Blames Riot On Diehards

by Mike Battenfeld

The whole nation was shocked when the great state of Mississippi roared massive defiance at the law of the land and necessitated the calling out of Federal troops because Mr. James Meredith, a citizen of Mississippi, and only incidently a Negro, attempted to register at the University of Mississippi.

A special student at St. Michael's, Raul Miller of St. Albans A.F.B. attended the University of Mississippi and in a special interview for The MICHAELMAN told of some of his feelings and opinions on the crisis at Ole Miss.

Mr. Miller said that the more responsible elements of the Ole Miss student body didn't like the idea of integration, but were willing to accept it.

"Most of these people were brought up to believe in segregation, he said, "You can't expect them to like the idea of integration, but the intelligent ones realize they can't fight it, and are willing to accept it."

The cause of the riots, in Mr. Miller's words, was "a few diehard segregationists who managed to get control of those who were most easily led." He emphasized that campus leaders had no part in the riots which took two lives.

Mr. Miller also stated that Federal troops were necessary to uphold the law, that is, register Meredith, unless he could have been registered quietly - but that this would have been impossible.

ON BARNETT

On the subject of Gov. Barnett, Mr. Miller said that "he knows his place, and won't repeat past events". Apparently, the governor's backers are ardent segregationists and the governor went along them.

Mr. Miller had one final word: "If people make a law, then they should obey it". Perhaps, this was the real crisis at Ole Miss.

SPORTS HI-LITE

The Los Angeles Dodgers will probably take their time about announcing whether Manager Walter Alston has been rehired or retired.

But one thing already seems apparent: If Alston is back next season, Coach Leo Durocher won't be; and vice versa.

The night the Dodgers were beaten 6-4 by San Francisco in the final game of the National League playoffs, Durocher was telling those around him that Alston botched the last playoff game and that "I could have won it".

Durocher might simplify the matter by taking the managerial job he apparently has been offered by the Cleveland Indians. The rumor here during the playoffs was that the Indians wanted to give Leo $80,000 or $85,000 a year.

Now to the issue at hand - - - the Giants and Yankees.

It seemed apparent that the Giants would lose the first game to the New Yorkers due their lack of rest and the mix-up in the pitching rotation brought about by the playoffs. But, the "Gints" did come back to cop the second game.

SERIES NOTES:

Yankee leftfielder Tom Tresh played in his first world series in his rookie campaign. His father, Mike Tresh, a catcher, played 12 American League seasons and never got into the series. Mike spent 11 years with the Chicago White Sox and one with the Cleveland Indians.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Whitey Ford's earned run average for 17 series games is a sparkling 1.98 with only 26 earned runs in 118 innings. He has walked only 28 and struck out 76.

* * * * * * * * * * * * * * *

Mickey Mantle extended his undesirable World Series record in Thursday's game by striking out twice and lifting his total whiffs to 38. The Yankee center fielder topped Babe Ruth's mark last year. Mickey went hitless in four trips and his series average dipped to .271.

Knights Lose Soccer Match; Bow To George Williams, 3-1

St. Michael's College soccermen lost their second match of the season when they dropped a 3-1 contest to Sir George Williams University of Montreal, Saturday afternoon at home.

Sir George Williams was the first to score in the first period when Gus Zerand hit the goal at 13:40 with a penalty kick.

The Canadian opponents made it 2-0 with a goal by Gerry Stachrowski at 10:30 of the second period.

Two minutes later St. Michael's Anton Jaremczuk, Holyoke, Mass. scored the Knights' first and only goal at 12:40 of the second period.

Gerry Stachrowski scored his second goal of the afternoon at 17:53 of the third period to make the score 3-1.

The match, played under a light drizzle during most of the second half, was one of the best seen at the Winooski field.

The Canadians, much more experienced and superior to the Knights' squad, showed their ability with precision passes and their relative ease in setting up the plays.

St. Michael's presented a sturdy defense led by Nicolas Ravelo of Venezuela, Norman Roy, Proctor, Vt., and Roger Anton, Barre, Vt., and prevented Sir George Williams from making it a one-sided match.

The Knights' record stands at 1-2. The booters defeated Plattsburgh 2-0, but lost to St. Lawrence 2-1.

With the victory, Sir George Williams has now a 4-0 record for the season. Previously they defeated Norwich University twice and Macdonald College.

Frosh Bow To Experience; Yet To Score Season Win

Experience and defense were the key factors in the sophomores' victory over the freshman, 22-6. The opening frame went scoreless as both teams displayed strong defensive lines.

The first scoring threat came early in the second quarter when Jim Brinkeroff intercepted a freshman pass and raced to the ten yard line.

A few plays later Joe Kliminski connected with Frank McKevitt for the first score. McKevitt's pass catching ability was proven throughout the game as he accounted for 20 points.

Despite the commanding lead of the sophomores, the freshmen remained in high spirits as they were able to score on a beautiful pass pattern. This proved to be the sole tally for the frosh.

With a little more experience and practice the freshmen could bother the other teams in the remaining games.

The Freshmen football squad was overpowered by a powerful junior team, Thursday, by a score of 19 to 0. The Freshmen lacked coordination and were unable to halt an experienced and bigger team.

The first half showed Bill Finkenzeller score by way of a 35 yard passplay from his quarterback and Ed Goutas racking up the point after.

A strong defense set up by the juniors prevented any threat to their lead.

The second half featured juniors Rick Moyen and Stan Buczak both scoring via the air.

The closest the frosh came to scoring was a completed pass to Paul Hanley, who made ground to the five. With first and goal on the five, again the powerful line of the juniors checked any capitalizing by the frosh.

After two times out the freshmen still haven't been able to record anything in the win column.
